

U.S. Army Combined Arms Center
and Fort Leavenworth

Dale A. Ormond

Deputy to the Commanding General
U.S. Army Combined Arms Center
Fort Leavenworth, Kansas

In July 2008, Dale A. Ormond assumed the role as Deputy to the Commanding General, U.S. Army Combined Arms Center (CAC) and Fort Leavenworth – “The Intellectual Center of the Army.” CAC has command responsibility for 18 Major Subordinate Organizations located on Fort Leavenworth, while exercising direct authority for 17 other schools, centers, and training programs located throughout the United States. CAC is responsible for coordinating, synchronizing, and integrating doctrine, organizations, collective training, material, leader development, and lessons learned across a number of proponentencies, such as, Battle Command, Computer Network Operations, Electronic Warfare, Information Operations, Modular Force, and Knowledge Management, expanding the role of the Combined Arms Center to act as an integrator and synchronizer throughout TRADOC, the Army and the Joint, Inter-Agency, Inter-Governmental, and Multi-national (JIIM) communities.

Mr. Ormond was selected for the Senior Executive Service in July 2004. Prior to assuming the role as Deputy, Mr. Ormond served as the Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Army (Elimination of Chemical Weapons) from July 2004 to July 2008, where he provided executive level policy and oversight of the Chemical Demilitarization Program, for the Assistant Secretary of the Army (Acquisition, Logistics and Technology)/Army Acquisition Executive. His responsibilities included oversight of the planning, programming, budgeting and execution of the U.S. Chemical Weapons Destruction Program, while ensuring safety, environmental compliance, and cost effective operations of our chemical weapons destruction plants. In addition, he engaged directly with key stakeholders and he monitored closely the progress of international chemical demilitarization operations.

He also served as the Acting Director, U.S. Army Chemical Materials Agency, from January 2007 to January 2008, and had line management authority and responsibility for the operation of three chemical weapon storage depots, four chemical weapon storage activities, and five operational chemical weapons destruction facilities with a $1.5 billion annual budget. In addition, from February 2008 to June 2008, Mr Ormond also served as the Acting Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Army for Policy and Procurement, where he was responsible for Army contracting and acquisition policy.

Mr Ormond is a 1985 graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy and holds a Master of Science degree in Environmental Systems Engineering from Clemson University. Mr Ormond also has a Level III certification in DoD Acquisition Program Management. He has a vast background in nuclear safety, industrial facility and waste disposal operations spanning more than 25 years with the Department of Energy and Department of Defense.

Mr Ormond, originally from Silverton, Oregon, is married and has five children.